When you start your new course at college, you will be asked to tell us about what GCSE grades you already have. You will be enrolled on an appropriate skills course, depending on what grades you have. This will be a combination of GCSE resits and / or Essential Skills qualifications.

If you are on a 2 year, Level 3 programme, you may be enrolled onto the Welsh Baccalaureate.

If you have a D grade in Numeracy, Maths, Welsh (first language) or English you will be enrolled to resit the exam to improve to a C grade or above.

If you have below a D grade in Numeracy/Maths, Welsh (first language) or English, or you have no GCSE grades in these subjects, you will be enrolled onto Essential Application of Number Skills / Essential Communication Skills qualifications, at the appropriate level.

If you have a C grade or above, you will be enrolled onto Essential Digital Literacy Skills / Essential Employability Skills qualifications.

These qualifications are an important and essential part of your overall course at college.

Why is this an essential part of your course?

Are you interested in a career in education, the medical profession or engineering?

You are likely to need a minimum B grade in some core subjects to enter these professions. At college we offer dedicated support for learners who have C grades, but who want to improve that to a B or higher.

Need some extra support?

We understand that some learners find aspects of maths and/or Welsh/English challenging. Support is available at every college site, through the medium of Welsh and English. This support can be on either a drop in basis or by attending an agreed timetabled slot. Sessions may run over a period of weeks or can be personalised to meet your needs. Sessions may be face to face or online.
